Chair of Governors: Judith James

Statutory Guidance

This policy is in line with statutory guidance Relationships Sex and Health Education Guidance (DfE, 2019).

Audience

This policy is intended to be read by all members of staff employed by Thakeham Primary School. It will be available on the school website for parents and the wider community to view.

What is Relationships, Sex and Health Education (RSHE)?

RSHE is the life-long learning about physical, moral and emotional development. It is the understanding of the importance of marriage for family life, stable and loving relationships, respect, love and care.

Context

We want all children to grow up healthy, happy, safe, and able to manage the challenges and opportunities of modern Britain. From September 2020 it is a statutory requirement that all primary age children will be taught Relationships and Health Education.

Whilst in Primary Schools, Sex Education is not a compulsory element, through consultation with all stakeholders we have decided that this will continue to be taught as an integral part of our RSHE curriculum.

Aims

The aim of the policy is to provide a framework for teaching Relationships, Sex and Health Education throughout the school. It is also intended to inform parents and the wider community about the programme that their children will be following in each year of their education.

Content

By the end of primary school, pupils will have been taught content on:

- families and people who care for me
- caring friendships
- respectful relationships
- online relationships
- being safe
- mental wellbeing
- internet safety and harm
- physical health and fitness
- healthy eating
- drugs, alcohol and tobacco
- health and prevention
- basic first aid
- changing adolescent body (puberty)

We believe that it is important that the transition phase before moving to secondary school supports pupils' ongoing emotional and physical development effectively. The DfE continues to recommend therefore that all primary schools should have a sex education programme tailored to the age and the physical and emotional maturity of the pupils. It should ensure that both boys and girls are prepared for the changes that adolescence brings and draws on knowledge of the human life cycle set out in the national curriculum for science - how a baby is conceived and born. As a primary school, we will continue to cover the additional content on sex education to meet the needs of our pupils, although we recognise this is not a statutory requirement.

Our Jigsaw curriculum clearly maps out when all of the statutory content outlined by the DfE for RSHE will be taught in our school. We have adapted this to fit our 2 year curriculum cycle overviews for Years 1-6. EYFS have an annual curriculum Jigsaw cycle. We are reflective in using Jigsaw and adapt this to meet changing needs within cohorts across the school as needed.

Equal opportunities

Schools are required to comply with relevant requirements of the Equality Act 2010 and have an awareness of the Public sector equality duty (PSED) (s.149 of the Equality Act). Under the provisions of the Equality Act, Thakeham Primary School will not unlawfully discriminate against pupils because of their age, sex, race, disability, religion or belief, gender reassignment, or sexual orientation (collectively known as the protected characteristics). Schools must also make reasonable adjustments to alleviate disadvantage and be mindful of the SEND code of practice when planning for these subjects. Provisions within the Equality Act allow schools to take positive action where it can be shown that it is proportionate, to deal with particular disadvantages affecting one group because of a protected characteristic. At Thakeham Primary School we take account of the individual cohorts within our school. This includes the gender and age range of their pupils, and whether it is appropriate or necessary to put in place additional support for pupils with particular protected characteristics. Thakeham Primary School aims to foster healthy and respectful peer-to-peer communication and behaviour between boys and girls. Staff have an important role to play in modelling positive behaviour.

We seek to provide an environment, which challenges perceived limits on pupils based on their gender or any other characteristic.

Safeguarding Statement

Thakeham Primary School is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and young people, and expects all staff, governors and volunteers to share this commitment.

Central to our policy is a focus on keeping children safe. All staff including governors and volunteers are trained to follow the practice as set out in Keeping Children Safe in Education (KCSiE) and therefore will report any concerns to the DSL.

Children will be made aware of how to raise their concerns, who to report to and how any report will be handled. This should include processes when they have a concern about a friend or peer.

Managing difficult questions

Primary-age pupils will often ask their teachers or other adults questions pertaining to sex or sexuality which go beyond what is set out for Relationships Education. Questions arising that are directly linked to our planned curriculum will be answered in a clear, age appropriate manner. Questions outside of our agreed curriculum will not be addressed in a whole-class setting and we will liaise with parents accordingly. Teachers can access useful support via the Teacher Guidance: 'Preparing to teach about mental health and wellbeing' (PSHE association) and via the Jigsaw online community.

Questions that raise safeguarding or child protection concerns will be referred to the DSL.

Working with parents

Parents are consulted on the content of the RSHE curriculum to ensure that the policy and curriculum meet the needs of pupils and parents and reflects the community we serve. Our policy and curriculum plans are available to all parents via the school website and in hard copy from the school office.

Communication will be sent home with each year group prior to the planned teaching. Parental workshops/powerpoints/videos will be offered at the appropriate times to ensure that parents understand and can support their children's learning.

Right to be excused from sex education (commonly referred to as the right to withdraw)

Parents have the right to request that their child be withdrawn from some or all of sex education delivered as part of RSHE, as this is not a statutory requirement. However, it is statutory for schools to teach the Science National Curriculum. Before granting any such request the Headteacher will discuss this with parents and, as appropriate, with the child to ensure that their wishes are understood and to clarify the nature and purpose of the curriculum. We will document this process to ensure a record is kept.

Delivery and teaching strategies

In our school we ensure that RSHE is taught by the classteachers.

It is the responsibility of Senior Leadership in liaison with the PSHE Curriculum Leaders to ensure that staff, parents and governors are informed about the school's RSHE policy and that the policy is implemented effectively. It is also their responsibility to ensure that members of staff are sufficiently knowledgeable, so that they can teach effectively and handle any difficult issues with sensitivity. The Senior Leadership/PSHE Curriculum Leaders will liaise with external agencies regarding the school RSHE programme and ensures that all adults who work with children on these issues are aware of the school policy and that they work within this framework. This policy is monitored on a regular basis and its effectiveness reported to governors in line with our School Strategic Development Plan/Monitoring Schedule.

Please see appendix for suggested resources that we may draw upon when delivering RSHE alongside/in addition to those within the Jigsaw curriculum.

The role of other members of the community

We encourage other valued members of the community to work with us to provide advice and support to the children with regard to health education. In particular, external organisations and agencies, for example members of the Local Health Authority may provide valuable support with our RSHE programme.

Governors

As well as fulfilling their legal obligations, the governing body will also make sure that:

- all pupils make progress in achieving the expected educational outcomes;
- the subjects are well led, effectively managed and well planned;
- the quality of provision is subject to regular and effective self-evaluation;
- teaching is delivered in ways that are accessible to all pupils with SEND;
- clear information is provided for parents on the subject content and the right to request that their child is withdrawn;
- the subjects are resourced, staffed and timetabled in a way that ensures that the school can fulfil its legal obligations.

Pupils with special educational needs and disabilities (SEND)

When teaching RSHE we are aware that some pupils are more vulnerable to exploitation, bullying and other issues due to the nature of their SEND. Our curriculum will be accessible for all pupils. Teaching is of high quality, differentiated and personalised to meet the specific needs of pupils at different developmental stages (please refer to the SEND Code of Practice).

Faith, Values & RSHE

All children from all faiths and cultures have an entitlement to RSHE. Teaching RSHE effectively means taking into account the faiths and cultures of the children in our school. RSHE should be sensitive to the range of different values and beliefs within a multi faith and multi-cultural society. There are two underlying principles considered:

- 1) RSHE must be relevant to the children, supporting them in learning about different faiths and cultures and be underpinned by values promoting equality and respect.
- 2) Valuing diversity and anti-discriminatory practice is an integral part of the school's ethos.

Resources

We will be using a range of age-appropriate resources to teach the planned curriculum with 'Jigsaw' being our main resource.

Assessment

We have the same high expectations of the quality of pupils' work in RSHE as for other curriculum areas. For detailed assessment and reporting information, please see p4-6 of our PSHE Policy.
